

3 WAYS TO STAND OUT AMONG YOUR PEERS

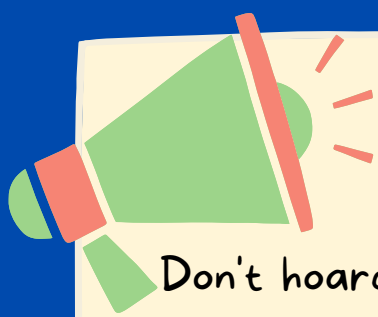

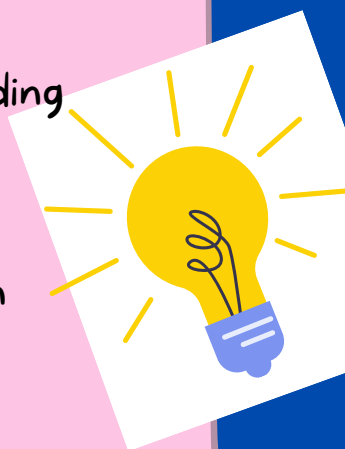

Proactively Reach Out

Stop and think about how it made you feel when a coworker reached out to you for no reason other than to touch base. It made your day. It made you feel connected and valued. Make this a habit and watch how your coworkers respond to you. They'll be more apt to collaborate, trust, and help you achieve your goals!

Share Your Knowledge

You aren't giving away your power, you're expanding your influence! You are building a network of advocates! You may become the "go-to" person. You will for sure keep the lines of communication open. And just think about the knowledge others will in turn be willing to share with you!

Pro Tip - start now by sharing this graphic with your coworkers too!

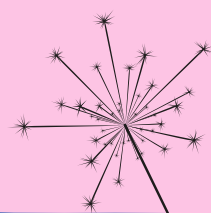

Recognize Successes & Efforts

Don't hoard praise! Shout it to the rooftops. Be mindful of your coworkers' efforts. Show them how much they are appreciated. Make your recognition meaningful, substantial, and memorable! Think about it - walk a mile in someone else's shoes and think how your recognition will make them feel (whether or not they outwardly show it).

At EE Incentives, we have assisted thousands with innovative ways to recognize and reward successes, keep employees engaged, and help HR pros stand out among their peers. Need more ideas? Let's collaborate!

jodi.henson@eeincentives.com

rewardbuilderTM appreciate. motivate. celebrate.